

Discussion Questions for Book Clubs

Most people who are enthusiastic participants in book clubs know that it's the lively exchange of thoughtful opinions that makes them fun and engaging. The following questions and ideas are intended to help guide discussions, but Jane wants to encourage you not to feel limited to these questions. What do you want to talk about? Contact Jane directly so she can attend or call into your Book Club.

BLOOD RUBIES

Recipe— "Josie's Watermelon Martini

2 oz watermelon juice

1oz vodka

1 oz Limoncello

1/2 oz freshly squeezed lime juice

Shake, strain, and enjoy!

Book Club Discussion Questions

Thanks for choosing Blood Rubies for your book club! After you've made the featured martini (Watermelon... yum! Here's the recipe!) and toasted one another with Josie's dad's favorite toast: "Here's to silver light in the dark of night," you're ready to discuss the book! Here are a few questions to get you started:

1. Think about the objects in your house. Which one is most significant? Why?
2. If money were no object and if every art object were for sale, which one would you buy? Why?
3. Fabergé eggs contain surprises. Do you like surprises?
4. What's the appeal of snow globes?

5. Ty is proud of Josie's success. In today's world, do you think most men are proud of their partners' success?
6. What do you like best about Rocky Point, New Hampshire?

Don't forget to take a photo of the book club members holding the book (and maybe the martinis, too)! Send it to Jane. She loves them!

Any questions? Email Jane directly.